

Anansi Parent Update from Director:

Congratulations on a great first week of school! The students are connecting with their classmates and making new friends, learning the routines of school, and coming ready to learn. The teachers did a fabulous job of launching the year in my absence last week, and I look forward to getting into the classrooms now that I am well again.

Reminders:

- Lunch forms are due today, Monday, August 20, 2018
- All forms from family orientation are due now

Afternoon Parent Pick-Up:

- If you arrive before 3:30, park your car and walk on campus to meet your student, it relieves the line from going out into the road, (and you may even leave more quickly than staying in your car in the line)
- Middle School parents you can park, and your student can take the crosswalk out to meet you at your car
- If your student is not out when you get to the front of the pick up line, please circle around and join the line again or go park in the parking lot, pulling forward is creating a jam up in the parking lot
- The only crosswalk in the parking lot is at the stop sign please use it, to increase safety

Special Events this Week:

- 6th Grade Field Trip to Wild Rivers, Thursday August 23rd
- August 23rd & 24th: Colorado College Students are here for their service learning project on our campus, they will work with students and help with campus projects

New! Outdoor Library House: Leave a Book, Take Book:

The Friends of Anansi have installed a outdoor library on our campus, you can bring appropriate books you are ready to share and pick up new books for your family. It is located along the south sidewalk on the way to the playground.

Thanks for your contributions in making our first week so successful! See you at school!
